Bipasha Majumder (De)

Haiku-1

Dewy dawn blooms,
aubade abode of doves fills the air,
 I listen through walls.

Haiku-2

Iceberg of loathing... set fire to it and then look!
 love flooding the earth

Haiku-3

Old banyan tree...
 Zephyr singing lullabies
 weary tramps dozing

Haiku-4

Chilly wintry morn...
 Pale leaves cling to their creator,
 Aeolus says, "Be free!"

Haiku-5

Countless mustard blooms swaying their heads in sheer glee pandemic of joy

Haiku-6

A tiny dew drop... a tale of endless struggle for existence

Bipasha Majumder (De) is Assistant Professor, Department of English, Debra T.S.K.S. Mahavidyalaya. Her poems have featured in Literary Voice, International Journal of English Language, Literature and Humanities, The Criterion, Contemporary Literary Review India and Rock Pebbles: Anthology of Poems.
